去濕纖肢丸 Camellia Recovering Formula

Dampness is closely related to spleen and stomach deficiency. Traditional Chinese medicine believes that the spleen controls transportation and transformation, and with stomach they dominate: water metabolism, blood circulation and nutrient absorption; When the spleen and stomach are weak, it is difficult to transport water to other parts of the body, resulting in excessive water in the body, and the face, abdomen and limbs are easily swollen, resulting in puffiness, and various water retention problems.

Applicable population:

Edema and fat deficiency, weak spleen and stomach, sticky stool, slow metabolism, easy fatigue, poor breath, poor skin

Sitting and standing for a long time is prone to edema; Often staying up late, fatigue, swollen face; Like to eat cold drinks and accumulate moisture; Staying in an air-conditioned room for a long time aggravates the humidity in the body
